GERMANS CRITICISE AMERICAN NOTE

Berlin Newspaper Says Protest of U. S. to France and England is Unfair to Germany.

(Special to The Herald)
 Berlin, April 7.—The American note to England and France expressing the attitude of the United States government upon the British order-in-council blockading German ports, has not been favorably received in Germany. The complete text of the note has not been received here, but commenting upon the summary of its contents, the influential Cologne Gazette says, "It appears that the note was framed against Germany rather than against England. It is so drafted that England may simply leave it unnoticed without any reason to fear any serious steps from the American government. Against Germany, however, although in a veiled manner, the accusation is made that she is not observing the principles of warfare recognized by civilized countries. The note gives the impression that it is an anti-German measure since it affords England the certainty that she can continue her illegal blockade without any restraint."

S. S. Caroline Hemsoth Goes to Bottom in Baltic Sea From Russian Mine or Torpedo

Anglo-French Ships Keeping Up Bombardment of Turkish Fortifications at Dardanelles

(Special to The Herald)
 Copenhagen, April 7.—The German merchant steamer, Caroline Hemsoth, has been sunk in the Baltic Sea, either as the result of striking a mine or being torpedoed by a Russian submarine. News of the sinking of the steamer was received here today and has been officially confirmed. This is the third ship of the Hemsoth line lost in the Baltic. The Caroline Hemsoth was a vessel of 2,284 tons and hailed from Emden.

(Special to The Herald)
 Constantinople, (via Berlin), April 7.—That an intermittent bombardment of the Dardanelles forts is being carried on by units of the Anglo-French fleet is shown by the following official announcement of the Turkish war office today:
 "On April 4, two of the enemy's cruisers unsuccessfully bombarded the Turkish batteries at the western entrance to the Dardanelles. One cruiser was struck by the fire from the fortress."
 The Turks claim a victory over the Russian forces in the Trans-Caucasian arena of the operations. The following statement of the situation there has been given out:

"Our forces have checked the attempted advances of the enemy north of Ischkan after eight hours of the hardest fighting. The Russians were driven across the frontier. We occupied three Russian villages south of Tasskert."

GERMAN CRUISER CLOSELY GUARDED

(Special to The Herald)
 Newport News, April 7.—The navy department has established a strict watch over the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich and no ship is allowed to approach her within 200 yards of the German craft. This order is being enforced by the navy tug Patuxent, which is prepared to fire on any craft which approaches too close to the cruiser. Off the port the battleship Alabama is standing with decks cleared for action, watching the James and Elizabeth rivers to prevent an attempted escape.
 Commander McCracken of the Patuxent threatened to fire a shot into a newspaper boat today when she ventured too close to the raider. British merchant vessels are being held here despite the efforts of the owners to obtain their release and clearance papers.

Washington, April 7.—That a time limit for the Ellet to intern or to leave Newport News has been admitted by Treasury officials, but has not yet been given out. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters said that every opportunity would be given the German craft to get away if she intended to do so.

DESPERATE RESISTANCE OFFERED RUSSIANS

(Special to The Herald)
 Petrograd, April 7.—Reinforcements of German infantry and artillery have reached the Austro-German army in the Carpathians, and the fighting in the Beskid ranges, south of Dukla and Lupkow Passes, has grown into a combat of manifold fury. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has sent a group of his most trusted officers to help direct the movements of the Austro-German forces. Russian troops are pouring through Rostock Pass, the latest mountain defile captured by the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas.
 In Galicia from March 26 to April 3, in the sections of Baligred and Uszek Pass, the Russians captured 33,165 privates, 378 officers, 11 army surgeons, 17 big guns, and 101 Maxim's.
 A report says: "In spite of our continued success and our persistent progress in the Carpathians, Austrian communications persist in announcing that their attacks against the Russian forces are successful. To us it appears that the object of these communications is to revive the courage

SCOOP, THE CUB REPORTER

An April Story Without words 'that Can be Printed'

COMMITTEE STILL WORKING ON A B. & M. BILL

Concord April 6.—The judiciary committee of the house has held its final conference with the representatives of the Boston and Maine railroad of the leased lines and all other interests with regard to the final makeup of the bill with reference to the reorganization of the Boston and Maine railroad.

The bill now under consideration was the one agreed upon by the representatives of the Boston and Maine railroad and of the leased lines last Friday. The committee went through it section by section and made note of suggested changes and of objections for use as a guide in the formulation of the bill as it will be presented to the legislature.

The committee also discussed the bill presented by S. C. Eastman permitting the incorporation of the New Hampshire railroad in the event that the leases are surrendered.

This was practically completed. One point was left open pending a decision by William M. Chase ex-judge of the supreme court as to what might happen in case of liquidation if the treasury stock was excluded from the capital stock voting for the incorporation of or leases to the new corporation.

The provisions giving the new corporation the right to make operating contracts with connecting lines except the Boston and Maine was agreed to except that the life of such contracts was limited to four years.

The judiciary committee of the senate today introduced a bill which calls for the creation of the office of commissioner of motor vehicles and providing that all of the duties now devolving upon the secretary of state with respect to the registration of motor vehicles and carrying out of the provisions of the motor vehicle law shall hereafter be performed by a commissioner of motor vehicles who shall be under the supervision of the governor and council.

It is provided that the appointment of this official shall be made by the governor with the advice and consent of the council and that his term of office shall be for five years and his compensation at the rate of $2000 per annum. Arthur L. Willis, deputy secretary of state, is slated for this appointment.

When house bill No. 240 was reported to the senate today, a bill in amendment of chapter 154 of the session laws of 1913 relating to the hours of labor for women, with the recommendation that it ought to pass, with amendment March 9, 1915, and a bill allowing the town of Danbury to establish a village improvement precinct were passed.

House Bill No. 419 an act providing for the practice of medicine, was passed with an amendment on motion made by Senator Kenney of Manchester addressed the senate and moved that the bill be recommitted. He said that for one, he did not propose to vote upon matters with which he was not familiar, and inasmuch as no hearing had been held on the amendments he proposed to give an opportunity to all persons to be heard. His motion prevailed and the bill was recommitted to the committee.

An act to establish a board of public works for the city of Manchester was given burial today. This was House Bill No. 521, entitled an act in amendment of Chap. 350 of the Session Laws of 1911, entitled an act to establish a board of public works for the city of Manchester.

The amendment called for the doing away with the three-man commission and places the work in the hands of a single commissioner to be appointed by the mayor. The committee on judiciary of the senate made a unanimous report that it was inexpedient to legislate, whereupon Senator Marcotte moved that the bill be made a special order for consideration today. On its being brought up at 12.30 today Senator Marcotte moved that it be recommitted to the committee of amendment and the senate so voted.

It is understood that the bill will never again see daylight.

Among the joint resolutions received in the senate today from the house of representatives and which were referred to their proper committees was an appropriation for $164,000 for the New Hampshire college of Agriculture and the Mechanical Arts; $35,000 for the building of an addition to the state hospital; $2500 for premiums on agricultural products at fairs; and $500 for the encouragement of the sheep-raising industry.

The senate committee on engrossed bills today reported the police commission the excise commission and the bill pertaining to the duties of the mayor of Manchester has been correctly engrossed and they are now on their way to the governor.

On motion of Senator Cain of Keene today the rules of the senate were suspended and bills legalizing the action of the town of Carroll at a meeting of Senator Danforth of Concord.

When house bill No. 522 came before the senate today a bill authorizing the attorney general to have payments made by county treasurers of expenses incurred in connection with the prosecution of the provisions of the prohibitory law, the bill was laid on the table on motion of Senator Wagner of Manchester in order that it might be printed and its provisions become known to all of the members of the senate.

EITEL READY TO INTERNE?

Seventeen Plates Stripped from Engine Room Floor for Repairs—Painters Working on the Hull.

Newport News, Va., April 6.—The German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich remained at her wharf this forenoon, a plume of smoke floating lazily from one funnel. Painters were at work on her hull, scraping off the red rust accumulation of seven months of sea roving, and workmen coming off the ship reported that seventeen floor plates in the engine room had been removed, ostensibly for repairs. These circumstances strengthened the belief around the water front that internement until the end of the war and not a dash to sea will be the closing chapter to the Eitel's war record.

The strictest official secrecy was thrown about conferences and exchanges of documents between Captain Thierichsen, Rear Admiral Helm and Beatty and Customs Collector Hamilton.

MALONE ASKS 2 MORE WARSHIPS TO GUARD N. Y.

New York, April 6.—Dudley F. Malone, collector of the port, made a final tour of the New York and Hoboken, N. J., water fronts before daylight today in his effort to prevent violation of neutrality by an organization which he charges, has been formed to furnish supplies for British cruisers lying off New York.

The trip along the wharves was made in the destroyer MacDonough, stationed here to guard neutrality.

Mr. Malone declared he intended to ask the federal grand jury to take action at once against an organization which, he said, appeared to be engaged in a conspiracy to violate the President's proclamation of neutrality. Evidence which the collector has obtained, it is understood, will be submitted to the grand jury. This, together with information obtained by agents of the collector, he asserted, tends to show that a fleet of large tugboats has been sought by the organization having headquarters in a New York hotel to move supplies from various points to the British warships which have been watching the entrance to New York harbor almost since the beginning of the war.

At Mr. Malone's request two more destroyers are expected within a few days to aid in preventing violations of neutrality.

PRUSSIAN LOSSES 1,133,081

Berlin, via Copenhagen, April 6.—Five more Prussian casualty lists printed yesterday bring the total of Prussians killed, wounded and missing up to 1,133,081 men. This does not include the Bavarian, Saxon, Wuertemberg and naval lists.

SOUTH POND SHORE IMPROVEMENT TO BE CONTINUED

The improvement about the South Pond, which was started through funds furnished by citizens to keep some of the unemployed at work, has now been discontinued for lack of funds, but it is understood that a public spirited citizen, who has already given generously to the play ground and park system, will carry the work to completion, by furnishing the necessary funds.

Supt. Hodgdon's idea was to clear away all of the brick and other material piled along the pond side of

BRAZIL TO TRY AMERICAN MATCH WOOD

Supply of Russian Aspen Stopped by War, Samples of Substitutes Being Arranged by Forest Service

Washington, April 6.—American manufacturers of match wood may find a market for their product in Brazil, if a sample shipment now being arranged by the U. S. Forest Service proves suitable to the Brazilian match manufacturers whose ordinary supply of Russian aspen has been cut off by the European war. As it is regarded as an excellent opportunity for the introduction of North American forest products into South America, the Forest Service is trying to enlist the cooperation of private lumber concerns who are reaching out for export business.

The Brazilian match factories, according to a cablegram from a traveling agent of the Department of Commerce, have been using annually about 7,000,000 feet of Russian aspen, and have been forced by the war to seek a substitute. On the agent's recommendation of American match woods, a request has been made to the Forest Service for samples of western white pine, sugar pine, cottonwood, and basswood, eight bolts of each, 7 feet 3 inches long and 12 to 20 inches in diameter.

The National Forests contain large supplies of both sugar and western white pine suitable for the manufacture of matches, and used for this purpose in the United States. It has been difficult, however, to make up samples of these woods, for the reason that the Forest Service has no funds which can be used to pay railroad transportation charges from the west to New York or to prepay ocean freight as required by the steamship companies. The necessity to transport the samples across the continent, instead of sending them direct to Rio Janeiro from San Francisco or Portland, is due to present shipping conditions on the west coast.

That the Brazilian manufacturers have agreed to pay freight and customs charges, however, has encouraged a Memphis concern to promise to furnish cottonwood samples. The Forest Service is trying to get into touch with other firms which could furnish the pine and basswood.

N. H. COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., April 6.—Out today, the new catalogue of New Hampshire college shows a gain in students of more than 25 per cent in one year. Last year there were 402. This year the total is 518. The New Hampshire legislature has just decided to appropriate funds for a new dormitory for men and the new catalogue indicates that had it not done so, next year's class upon its arrival would have had nothing to do but to return to its several homes again.

The faculty of fifty members, owing to lack of funds, has not yet been increased, but a new department of education will mean a new professor for that subject at the opening of college next September. Five courses will be offered next year in this department, including "History of Education," "School Hygiene, Class Management, School Administration and Supervision include instruction in applied mechanics in elementary machine design and in business economics.

Any New Hampshire youth 16 years old or older can take the course. He must have a knowledge of the ordinary subjects taught in the grade schools but there will be no examinations to pass before entering here. The applicant must however present a certificate of good moral character, signed by some reliable citizen. A circular giving detailed information will soon be issued. Those interested should write to Prof. C. E. Hewitt, Durham, N. H.

An idea of the rapid recent growth of the college is had by a comparison of the class figures. There are in the four year courses but 52 seniors, while there are 134 freshmen. There are in the outflow 618 students but 69 from outside New Hampshire. Not included in the 518 are 300 other students who came here this winter for a one week course in agriculture.

It will certainly make a great improvement in the pond, and set off this pretty sheet of water in fine shape. It is understood that the work will be started soon and an effort will be made to take care of the unemployed, who have families depending upon them.

WILSON EXPECTS REPLY

The American Note is Merely a Statement of the Government's Understanding of the Blockade Law.

Washington, April 6.—With the publication today of its note in reply to the British Government's Order in Council proclaiming a virtual blockade against commerce to and from Germany, the American Government rested its case. Great Britain's next move is awaited with the keenest interest in official and diplomatic circles here. While the American note does not ask a reply President Wilson told callers today he expected one. The President described the American note as not being argumentative but just a statement of the understanding of the United States on the law in the case. Other international questions were not discussed by the President with callers. He refused to make any comment on the Japanese situation, saying that the question was so fluid that no definite statement could be made about it. The President said he was awaiting further information about the case of the sinking of the British ship Falaba by the German submarine, before deciding on representation to Germany.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that jazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Colonel Harvey's Attack on Daniels.

Col. George W. Harvey, who has been laboring under the mistaken idea that he discovered Woodrow Wilson, and has since imagined that he was destined to run the Democratic party and President Wilson's administration, has since discovered that Woodrow Wilson felt competent to go along alone. After realizing that he couldn't pose as the shining light and saviour of the country as the man behind the president, Colonel George has made many sarcastic attacks upon Wilson and the members of the cabinet.

The last crack Harvey made was upon Josephus Daniels, and was little worse than very tame. It proves that the colonel is loaded with ego. His face has appeared in the center of his pages of sarcasm with the self-imposed title of "colonel." He ridicules Mr. Daniels with his no-run ideas for the men of the navy and charges him with turning the ships into schools instead of warships.

This paper has a great deal of respect for Mr. Daniels. He is and has been a secretary of the navy in all that the title implies. He has swatted the chair warmers and the old naval ring at Washington and has pushed many young men to the front. The navy is again being run on a competent and efficient basis. Mr. Daniels might have been inclined to put democrats into many important positions, but this paper believes that he has taken a broader view of the situation. His move in naming Admiral Fletcher as commander of the North Atlantic fleet showed excellent judgment. If Admiral Fiske and others step down from the service because of this move the service is the gainer. He has taken the conceit out of many.

The navy belongs to the people, for the service of the people, and not for any little cliques. Mr. Daniels has continued to keep it right there where it belongs.

A number of high priced writers throughout the country have been employed by certain combinations and trusts that have axes to grind, to make the onslaughts on Daniels.

This paper believes that if the men in the navy were allowed to vote on the question of free rum aboard ships the present policy would be adopted unanimously.

Curtis Guild.

One of the best loved public figures in the Old Bay State passes away with the death of Curtis Guild. Soldier, statesman, journalist, governor, ambassador, student, patriot—all these and many other titles belonged to him.

Governor Guild ranks with the late William E. Russell and Roger Wolcott as idols of the people of Massachusetts, and it would be impossible to say what quality or characteristic of his made this the case. Curtis Guild always had in mind the one big idea—to serve the people. This desire was sincere and was, perhaps, second nature with him. He had the courage to do his duty with a single eye as to what was best. As governor of Massachusetts he never turned from the traditions that have made that office looked upon as the highest gift within the power of the people to bestow.

He was a great orator and he used this gift in the interests of humanity. He worked for the betterment of labor conditions; he fought powerful corporate and financial opposition; he pleaded for the rights of little children and won.

Whatever he undertook to do he did well. More than that, he was approachable to any man or woman, no matter how high or lowly their station might be, and above it all he remained a dignified and gentlemanly figure—an ideal idol that will, coupled with his sincere desire to serve and aid mankind, keep the memory of Curtis Guild ever in the minds of the people.

The rapid stride of prohibition in the warring nations is calling out all sorts of comment. One paper goes so far as to suggest that the movement seems to be based "solely on the mad desire to lick somebody," adding that "the moral uplift of mankind is not sought so much as the scalp of the enemy." And it will have to be admitted that there is some point in this observation.

Our former co-worker, R. W. Pillsbury of Londonderry, again takes his pen in hand and attempts to settle the railroad situation. It is doubtful if it causes even a ripple in the state.

Anti-war riots are reported in Austria, where the people seem to be so anxious for peace that they are ready to fight for it. That is one trouble with too many nations at the present time.

The democratic press in the state, what little there is left of it, is complimenting many old line republicans in the house and paving the way for their appointment to important official positions.

Germany has expelled Gifford Pinchot from Belgium. They evidently have no more use for him over there than we have here. It is time that President Wilson cut loose from some of these hot air merchants.

ELAINE DE SELLEM, FAMOUS CONTRALTO

With Boston English Opera Company Gives Warning to Vocal Students

There are few people in the country today more qualified from a standpoint of experience to advise ambitious vocal students, particularly girls, than Elaine De Sellem, the leading contralto of the Boston English Opera Company, which comes to the Portsmouth Theatre on Thursday April 8 in a magnificent production of Verdi's famous "Il Trovatore".

Miss De Sellem says, "The pity of it, I have been requested to explain why so many engaged in vocal study—so few attain anything like success. Studios are filled with aspirants who spend time and money to say nothing of nervous energy in striving for the artistic goal, and the question arises why so few succeed. I'll tell you in one sentence—not ten per cent of the students have any just reason for aspiring to vocal eminence, and ten per cent is a liberal estimate, and here is another reason. It may seem brutal but it is a deplorable fact, not 25 per cent of those who give vocal instruction are qualified to teach the art correctly. There is more chicanery and humbug in voice teaching than in all the other departments of the profession combined; it is for this reason that there ought to be laws prohibiting the incompetent from running voices and blinding hopes. Not a week passes but what I hear a number of girls sing who are studying for the operatic stage, most of them could not become artists if they studied a lifetime.

You can make a singer believe almost anything if you flatter and cajole. Students to flatter their vanity are given songs and operatic excerpts when they cannot sing five tones of the scale with even production and uniform vocal color. They are put upon recital programs that they can neither realize nor interpret. An instructor recognizes his technical limitations; what he can't execute he realizes he cannot play, but a vocalist there is no limitation to his or her assurance. They will tackle anything, the higher it goes the better, and whose fault is it that these poor deluded aspirants are led through impossible paths and interminable windings to find ultimately that their labor has been in vain and their hopes blasted, to say nothing of the money spent. The fault lies with the incompetent and unscrupulous teacher.

I presume what I have said will cause some excitement in the vocal habitat, but it is the truth nevertheless. If you don't believe it listen at some of the vocal studio doors and hear some of the wailing that is supposed to evaluate in vocal and supremacy, but which is certain to evaluate in financial and vocal disaster. I can only add in the words of the poet—"Pity 'tis—'tis true."

THE GREAT MORAL FORCE.

Advertising is one of the great moral forces of the day. It has revolutionized business methods and let daylight into the dark places.

It has banished the doctrine of "Let the buyer beware." It has made it possible to lower prices by increasing sales. It has done as much as any single factor to forge America to the front as a commercial nation. Each advertisement in this newspaper is a constructive message well worth the attention of readers.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS.

Talks On Government

Editor Herald:

Appropos to the prevailing unrest and indecision felt by business throughout the world regarding our present administration another one, dipped in, won't make much difference, perhaps, yet every little bit helps. In every paper we read of dissatisfaction in almost every business, not only at the present time during the European troubles, but at previous times and probably during the rest of our lives we shall hear the press and the public voice their real or apparent dissatisfaction with the prevailing political factions. Railways are running at a loss, steamship lines complain of partiality, factories close, street car men strike for higher wages, thinking men complain of our defensive weaknesses, and so on without end. It all points to a general suspicion of weakness in our form of government. A recent discussion by Col. Harvey on our secretary of the navy is a practical demonstration of this unrest.

Would not a practicable solution of part of the problem be the election by the people of a number of experienced men to the cabinet, or the right of the people to veto the president's selections? In other words, would it not be more in keeping with approved business plans to have the heads of the various departments chosen from the most efficient men in those departments and not from the favored ones of the various political factions. For instance, how would it strike you to see General Scott, as secretary of war; Dr. Wiley as head of the Department of Agriculture, or Admiral Dewey or Blake or Victor Blue as secretary of the navy. Wouldn't you feel a greater sense of security than you do with the present heads?

When a mine owner desires a man as his head hauler, he does not choose some one who has little or no knowledge of chemistry. When a railroad magnate wishes a new dispatcher he doesn't promote his pantler does he? Then why should the essential affairs of our nation be entrusted to ardent politicians? I take the field for you for president because I can't get it, and you make be secretary of state. It is very simple indeed, but what do the business men and the public think of it? Any one can see they are getting sick and tired of it and the end must some time come to such rancid conditions.

I heard a man once say that the only cure for graft was to get in a graft and graft the grafters out but we can't all do that. Why not start a national campaign against such a theory? Place at the heads of our national departments men who have been trained in their respective callings, so they can efficiently and impartially discharge their duties to their fellow mortals. Just quit at our present cabinet and then think over what they have accomplished and the present unrest.

Let this truly be a government by the people and for the people, instead of by the demagogues for the favored few.

The Milk Question

I understand that the board of health of this city are attempting to have the city council pass a so-called milk ordinance at its next meeting, which provides rules that milk dealers must abide by if they wish to continue doing business in this city. Now every body knows that Portsmouth has the best milk of any city in the state and the board of health are not improving the situation with their new milk ordinance. Some of the new rules will put the milk dealers to considerable expense if they properly live up to them and this of course means that the dear public will have to pay more for their milk. The state board of health and the local public in general are satisfied with the present milk conditions, and the board of health better be attending to its many other duties, which are many, and leave the milk situation alone. It is hoped that the city council will think well before passing the proposed ordinance.

CURRENT OPINION

Athletics Improve Men Mentally, Morally and Physically.

Athletics has worked wonders for America. The sport has made our men better physically, morally, and mentally. From a weak, undersized, narrow chested people to a strong, healthy and agile race has been the transformation since the American youth took up athletics.

When we founded the New York Athletic club in 1888 our boys, especially those attending college, were pale, weak, long haired youths of the type one might now see in the foreign settlements of this city.

Of course there were many big healthy fellows, but the average boy of those days was a weakling compared to our boys of today.

He is also better mentally and morally. Better physique has made him better able to master, mentally, more serious and bigger problems, and athletics has made him lead a cleaner and simpler life.—By Harry L. Buermeyer, New York Athletic Club.

It cost a Dover man $70 for his part in seeking a wife which he did not get. He fell for one of those matrimonial advertisements and to his sorrow now learns that the bride to be is locked up in the penitentiary for the same she has worked for years. A dispatch was received on Tuesday at Dover which should be a warning to long distance lovers. The name of the Dover victim is not used owing to the same name being borne by several people of that city.

Beloit, Wis., April 6.—Lovers disappointed sentimentally and financially in Mrs. Florence Gamble, recently of this city, are willing from all parts of the country asking Chief of Police Charles Qualman of her whereabouts. This morning a letter came from Dover, N. H., saying that Florence Gamble consented to go to Dover to marry him and then had broached the question of money. He says that he is sending her $70 by American Express money order.

Mrs. Gamble was arrested here two weeks ago and now is serving an 18 months' sentence in the federal prison for women in Kansas.

Mrs. Gamble operates by advertising for a husband then picking each victim. She tells him she will marry him as soon as he sends her money for the trip. She has operated in Council Bluffs and Davenport, Iowa, and Marquette and Beloit, Wis.

THE CELEBRATED FRANKLIN CAR

THE man who best appreciates the Franklin is the man who has owned and operated another car. He has a basis for comparison.

The determination of buyers to face the facts and get the figures has made the Franklin the fastest selling fine automobile in America.

Engine and Vehicle Patented July 2, 1908.

Weight 2750 Lbs., 4 1/2 in. tires—Price $2150.

In these days of standardization automobiles are known in classes—namely: Cheap, Common, Good, Fine, Splendid and Luxurious.

THE FRANKLIN IS DISTINCTIVELY THE FINE AUTOMOBILE

The Franklin today represents the most difficult of all engineering achievements—the attainment of scientific light weight, simplicity and easy-riding qualities, in a luxurious five-passenger touring car that costs less to maintain than the cheapest car made.

Automobile users everywhere have seen the U. S. Government's report showing the cost of operating a Franklin car in comparison with other makes.

The Franklin DIRECT-AIR-COOLING SYSTEM does away with all useless complications—eliminates radiator leaks—frozen plumbing in the winter and the trouble and annoyance of boiling water in hot weather. In the recent engineers' test at the Mason Laboratory of Yale University, not only was the fuel mileage cost of the Franklin the lowest of any car tested, but under the strenuous conditions of the test, during the fastest runs and the heaviest pulling, the engine could not be overheated.

Get the facts from disinterested sources before buying a new automobile.

GERMANY RUSHING ARMY TO AID OF AUSTRIA

Most Furious Bayonet Charge of the War Raging in Mountain Pass—New Type of Submarine Being Used to Raid English Shipping

Paris, April 6.—A Geneva dispatch received here this afternoon says Germany is rushing army corps from Flanders to the Carpathians and that Austria has suddenly withdrawn her troops from the Tyrol and is hurrying to the defense of the Ussok pass.

Other Geneva dispatches reported a battle raging south of Barfield and near Eperjes. Paris military experts doubted this report, pointing out that the last official statements from Petrograd put the Russian army several miles north of Barfield, which is at the northern terminus of the railway leading into north Hungary.

Greatest Bayonet Fight Ever Recorded in History

Petrograd, April 6.—The most furious bayonet battle in the history of the world is being fought on the southern ridge and slopes of the Carpathians at the Lupkov pass, according to dispatches reaching here today. In snow-filled gullies and up and down the slippery mountain sides, the struggle is going on. The Austrians in their retreat southward from the railway abandoned much of their artillery. The Russians moved up the heights, supported only by small mountain guns.

Neither side has been able to put its artillery to effective use in the broken ranges. Guerrilla warfare, fierce struggles between small groups in the narrow defiles with Austrian and Slav clashing with cold steel, is strewing the Lupkov region with thousands of dead.

The czar's troops have not yet passed the Lupkov, according to the best information available at the war office today. They have driven the enemy from each successive height dominating the railway, the Austrians making their stand on the last ridge, because of the nature of the fighting at this point, dispatches are conflicting and it is possible that with both lines broken by intervening mountain peaks a few small bodies of Russians have made their way down the southern slopes through the Austrian lines.

Heavy re-enforcements have been thrown into the attack on the Lupkov. The war office believes that once the way is cleared through this pass, the right wing of the enemy north of the Ussok will begin to withdraw.

The Russian light wing, which crossed into Hungary through the Carpathians, has begun a forward movement against Barfield, according to unconfirmed reports received here today. It has clashed with the Austrians a few miles north of the railway head and a great battle is developing.

Carpathians Battle Outcome in Balance

Berlin, via London, April 6.—The outcome of the great battle in the Carpathians, which has lasted so many weeks, cannot yet be foreseen, according to the special correspondent at the front for the Tageblatt. He argues that the army taking the offensive against an enemy provided with strong positions, to which it can retire when necessary, always is the greater loser, and the farther it goes forward the greater are its losses. The correspondent says:

"There is, therefore, always the well based hope that if the Russians advance by virtue of the masses of troops thrown into the Carpathians by them, they will have to pay dearly, and too dearly. Although the conflict in the Carpathians at present is attracting more interest than any other happening in the war, one must not forget that the war theatre includes regions other than the Carpathians, and these can have an influence on the Carpathian situation.

"The gaining of ground in the Carpathians by no means indicates victory, for victory is not won until the opponent is exhausted. Even if the Russians succeed in gaining ground at points in the Carpathians our offense will grow more effective."

French Centre Attack Around the Meuse

Berlin, via London, April 6.—The following report from the military headquarters was given out here today:

"Western theatre of war: Since yesterday the French have become particularly active between the Meuse and the Moselle, employing strong forces and a large amount of artillery. They attacked northeast, east and southeast of Verdun, and also at Ailly, Apremont, Elirey and northwest of Pont-a-Mousson.

"Northeast and east of Verdun their attacks did not all develop, on account of our fire. Southeast of Verdun they were repulsed. On the eastern edge of the Meuse heights the enemy succeeded in obtaining temporarily a foothold in a small part of our outer trenches, but was driven out again during the night.

"The battle in the neighborhood of Ailly and Apremont continued through the night without any success to our opponents.

"In the neighborhood of Elirey the fighting was very bitter. Several French attacks were repulsed there. West of the Forest of Le Pretre, a strong French attack north of the high road between Elirey and Pont-a-Mousson broke down.

"Notwithstanding the very heavy losses which our opponents suffered during the engagement, it must be assumed that in accordance with the recent dispositions of their forces they will continue their attacks in this district, the hopelessness of all their efforts in the Champagne having become clear.

"Eastern theatre of war: Russian attacks to the east and south of Kalachka and also to the east of Augustowa were unsuccessful. Otherwise the situation is generally unchanged."

London, April 6.—A big submarine that dashed through a heavy sea at incredible speed torpedoed and sank the steamer Northlands off Beachy Head in the English channel. While some of the crew who were landed at Deal today believed the attacking submarine was the famous U-12, others believed it was of a newer and far more powerful type.

Word of the sinking of the Northlands was received here only a short time before the crew of the Grimby trawler Agatha was landed at Bournemouth and sunk by a submarine in the North sea after a short chase.

The Northlands ignored the first signal from the submarine, commanding her to halt. Her stokers set at work furiously and, swinging in zigzag fashion, she dashed in toward shore. A gale was rolling up high waves in the channel, but in a few minutes the submarine was alongside the Northlands and signalled "Abandon your ship."

The boats were lowered and the crew were pulling away when a terrific explosion nearly broke the steamer in two.

"At the same instant," said one of the Northlands sailors, "her whistle mysteriously broke out in a waiting death shriek that lasted until the waves engulfed her. It was devilish uncanny."

The steamer carried a cargo of iron ore and settled quickly. The submarine hurried off without offering any assistance to the crew, who drifted about in two small boats seven hours.

The Northlands was built at West Hartlepool in 1900 and was owned by the Northlands Steamship Company of Cardiff.

The Northlands' crew of 24 were landed at Deal today by a Belgian steamer. They reported that the submarine commander gave them five minutes to get their boats over. They handed all their clothing and personal belongings, and had rowed less than 100 yards from the steamer when she was sent to the bottom.

Belgian Italian Ship Torpedoed off Spain

Genoa, April 6.—Additional reports received here regarding the sinking by a German submarine of the Italian steamer Luigi Parodi indicate that she was torpedoed near the Spanish coast. If these advices are well founded, they show that German underwater craft are able to operate at a greater distance from their home base than had been supposed.

A dispatch from Genoa last night announced the sinking of the Luigi Parodi, which left Baltimore on Jan. 22, with a cargo of coal consigned to Augusta, Sicily.

Catch Submarine in Net, Await Its Rise to Surface

Paris, April 6.—A German submarine has become sorely entangled in a net specially designed for that purpose and placed off Dover, according to the Petit Journal's Danzig correspondent, who adds that the French naval authorities expect to capture the submarine when it comes to the surface. Miles of submarine nets have been set by the British navy at various points around the British Isles to catch German submarines engaged in blockading England. The traps are made of all nets used by fishermen. Malleable iron frames 10 feet square, 15 feet high, are sunk to a depth of 20 feet, suspended from buoys. If a submarine enters one of these frames its sides are caught, causing the trawler frame to buckle inward, catching the propeller. Thus the craft is in the position of a fish floundering in a net, and its occupants are doomed.

Supt. Pringle reported that in conjunction with the purchase of new seats for the Lafayette school, enough adjustable iron were purchased, to outfit all of the rooms at the Cabot and Whipple schools, a very good improvement. He also reported on the opening of the Lafayette school, and said that there were 253 scholars in seven rooms, the kindergarten not being moved. There were 316 in the Whipple, 150 in the Cabot and 440 in the high schools. The Farragut and Haven were the same as last year minus the seventh grade.

The special committee, to whom were referred the question of redistricting the city made an extended report through Supt. Pringle, which was laid over for another meeting. The report recommends the redistricting of the city, the reduction in the number of present standing committees, and various other changes, many made necessary by the opening of the new school building.

Mayor H. B. Yeaton said that in casting about for work for unemployed Supt. Hodgdon and himself had discovered that there was about 100 cords of wood that had been cut off the timber growth about the Haven and Sherburne Springs. The greater part, where the fire had gone through two years ago, and he suggested that as the Board of Instruction used considerable wood (30 to 40 cords) and the Overseer of the Poor also had to purchase wood, that it would do a double duty, if this wood owned by the Board of Public Works was hauled to the city yards, the unemployed given the work of cutting it up and the School and Poor Department purchase the wood at a price slightly under the market price.

On motion of Mr. Thayer the Board approved of such a scheme and left it to the Purchasing Committee with authority to act.

Mr. Thayer for the high school committee reported as inexpedient the request of the Piscataqua Savings Bank that they give prizes in the high school for essays on saving.

ARE NOW THE SAME

Which is whole wheat flour, graham or what is called entire wheat? I have supposed that graham was the complete unadulterated article in question, as it contains bran. Lately I read that the so-called entire wheat flour is complete, but how can it be without the bran? Do you know the best brands of both?

Concerning whole wheat flour, there has been a recent ruling by the Government that describes whole wheat flour as "unbolted wheat meal."

Heretofore in a commercial way graham flour and whole wheat flour have been two different products. Graham flour is a coarse ground product, while whole wheat flour is a fine ground product. Under the new ruling of the Government that makes whole wheat flour an "unbolted wheat meal," Graham flour and whole wheat flour would be the same thing.

VANILLA EXTRACT

In buying vanilla extract the other day I was particular not to get the compound, but have since discovered that the enclosed cover says "Prepared from choicest fresh fruits by our own process" etc. Now that does not sound like "vanilla bean." On the day I purchased it, both compound and the enclosed were advertised, and regarding the enclosed, it said "None better at any price." I have always considered this grocery company an honest one. Would I close the ad. only I have mislaid it.

We have no data on the brand of vanilla indicated by the label you submit. It reads well and there is apparently no attempt to deceive. The term "fresh fruit" while strictly applying to lemons, oranges, berries, etc., may be given a liberal interpretation, to include the fruit of the vanilla plant. In fact, the fruit of the vanilla plant is not a "bean," as the orchid mentioned are not "beans." Neither are strawberries, "berries." The strawberry "fruit" is the little seed-like bodies on the enlarged, fleshy stem. In short there is nothing intended as misleading in the label. The statement doubtless also appears

FOOD VALUE OF OLIVE OIL AND ITS ADULTERANTS

Please state the adulterants of olive oil and the food value in calories of olive oil, and its adulterants. Mrs. V. P. The common adulterants of olive oil are the oils of cottonseed, corn, peanut, sesame, rape etc. In short, any edible oil may be used as an adulterant of a more expensive oil. Olive oil has a fuel value of over 3,600 calories per pound. It is easily digested and furnishes heat and energy with little effort on the part of the body. Aside from its nutritive value and easy digestibility it serves as a mild natural laxative.

EVAPORATED MILK

Can you tell me if evaporated milk contains embalming fluid? I have heard that it does. Also if ice cream from the large manufacturing concerns is safe?

R. L. S.

We know of no evaporated milk on the market that contains any preservative whatever. Sterilization alone is sufficient to keep it for any reasonable length of time. It is true that sometimes ice cream contains either natural hard or some other form of foreign oil. High grade ice cream manufacturers, however, do not use such adulterants.

NOT A GOOD PRACTICE

Is the practice of feeding a child two years old crackers (either soda or graham) before the child gets up in the morning harmful?

E. C. M.

It is far better to establish habits of regular breakfast. A few minutes activity on the part of the child before eating puts the digestive tract in a better position to digest the food. We would say, in general, the practice you suggest is not a good one.

THE EVENING MEAL

Where necessity requires a family to have the heaviest meal in the evening, is such a practice harmful to children?

Mrs. M. C.

The best experience seems to indicate that the evening meal for children should be light.

HOW RAILROAD CARS ARE CLEANED

In a report dealing with the migration of tuberculous persons in interstate traffic recently issued by the United States Public Health Service, the manner of cleaning and disinfecting Pullman cars, day coaches, mail and baggage cars, at Asheville, N. C. is described.

"When we consider the number of persons who travel to and from health resorts the necessity of thorough cleansing of railroad cars becomes evident. Not only is formaldehyde gas used as a disinfectant but soap and hot water are liberally used as a means of mechanical cleansing. Dust is removed from the carpets, upholstered seats and interior of the cars by means for this purpose.

Fresh air and sunlight which are among the best disinfecting agents we have, are also utilized as a further means of cleaning the blankets, mattresses and curtains used in Pullman cars.

In addition to the leaning and disinfection of railroad coaches the use of individual drinking cups, drinking water of a required standard of purity individual towels and dental laboratories are all factors which make traveling by railroad not only more agreeable but safer.

The slogan "Safety First" applies not only to the prevention of accidents but the prevention of disease.

INTOXICATED BEFORE WORK ENDS

Statistics on Liquor Consumed During Day by French Dock Laborers

Paris, April 6.—Mr. Joseph Reinach, a member of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday contributed to the Temps another of his occasional articles on the results of intemperance. In his article Mr. Reinach gives what he declares is the usual course of the dock laborer's day as follows:

7.00 to 8.00 a. m. Work
8.00 to 8.15 a. m. Lunch with spirits
8.15 to 10.00 a. m. Work
10.00 to 10.30 a. m. Appetizer
10.30 to 11.00 a. m. Work
11.00 a. m. to 12.30 p. m. Lunch
12.30 to 3.00 p. m. Work
3.00 to 3.30 p. m. Lunch with spirits
3.30 to 5.00 p. m. Work
5.00 to 5.15 p. m. Appetizer
5.15 to 6.00 p. m. Work

By five o'clock Mr. Reinach says, the majority of the men are drunk. He says he has accumulated testimony of surgeons and nurses which shows that the temperate wounded recover quickly, while the intemperate recover from their wounds slowly or not at all.

Rev. Father Duffy is speaking at Christ church this week.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated By Portsmouth People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried the remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Portsmouth.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now makes his testimony even stronger.

Mrs. Arthur M. Morrison, 50 Gate St., Portsmouth, says: "I had pains in my back and sides. My kidneys were weak and often I had nervous and dizzy spells. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and used some. It wasn't long before they completely cured me. The cure has been permanent. You may continue publishing the endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills before."

Tryon of Boston, director of the New England department of the American Peace Society, will give an address upon his personal experiences in Germany at the outbreak of the present war. He will also talk upon the Peace question. Mr. Tryon is a very able speaker and his address promises to be of great interest as the subject is an up-to-date one.

The Concert Which Never Disappoints

The ell is being rebuilt and at present there is no room over the kitchen. The fire worked its way to the roof, burning all of the woodwork in the kitchen.

The firemen used one line of hose from a nearby hydrant and two tanks of chemicals were also used before the flames were extinguished. The duration of the fire was about two hours. Its origin is unknown.

Miss Bertha Hatch and Mrs. Alice M. Bilton.

At the apron table presided Mrs. Clarence Smart, Mrs. Frank McMahon and Mrs. Sarah Robinson.

The event was a success socially and financially.

Much credit is due Mrs. Edwin Seavey, the chairman of general arrangements.

IT COST HIM $16.13

For Beating His Fare From Newburyport to This City.

Joseph Hansen took a ride on the baggage car vestibule of a passenger train between Newburyport and Portsmouth on Tuesday. It would have cost him just fifty cents for a seat in the smoker but he took the open air ride and now the court says he must pay $16.13 for evading fare.

Hansen was arraigned before Judge Adams in the municipal court today and admitted he was guilty of beating the Boston and Maine. He said he was on his way home to Rockland and had no money to purchase a ticket.

He asked the court to consider his circumstances and release him but Judge Adams told him that part of it it was up to the railroad. Detective Newcomb of the Boston and Maine was present and told the court that tramps had made a practice of riding on the train arriving here at 10.45 and not only jumped the head end of the baggage car but have been found on the locomotive tender. He stated that the company wished to break up the dangerous practice.

Hansen will attempt to have the money sent to him from his home to pay his fine and in the meantime will stay in jail where the fine will be 50 cents less every day he is locked up.

MRS. WOOD MADE ADDRESS

Spoke Before South Parish Alliance Society Tuesday Afternoon.

The South Parish Alliance Society held a very interesting and enjoyable meeting at the Unitarian chapel on Court street on Tuesday afternoon. Despite the weather there was a good sized audience in attendance.

Mrs. Mary T. Wood spoke in her usual interesting and charming manner concerning the history and developments of the Alliance and its object and mission. She treated the subject from all points of view, which proved very instructive as well as interesting.

At the conclusion of the talk refreshments were served by the members of the Alliance.

EASTER ENTERTAINMENT AND SALE

The Benevolent Society of the Court Street Christian Church held a most successful Easter entertainment and sale on Tuesday evening, although stormy weather prevailed, there was a large attendance who were greatly interested in the affair and patronized the booths. The vestry was handsomely decorated in green and white streamers of crepe paper being arranged across the room and the booths had canopy tops, the decorations of which were quite elaborate.

A pleasing entertainment consisting of the following numbers was presented:

Piano solo—Miss Ruth Coleman

Solos and readings—Misses Jennie and Ethel Lynn

Vocal solo—Miss Eleanor W. Welch

A pleasing innovation was the lunch room which was located in the church parlor, with very pretty decorations of the same color scheme, green and white prevailing. Here fancy pie, cake, sandwiches, ices, tea and coffee were served. This was in charge of Mrs. Edwin Seavey, Mrs. George Shapleigh and Mrs. Orma Junkins.

Another novelty was the parcel post table, in charge of Rev. and Mrs. Percy W. Caswell. This booth was loaded with parcel post packages which had been sent through the mail by friends of the society for this occasion. This booth found ready patronage.

A candy booth which was filled with tempting dainties was in charge of the Misses Ruth Coleman and Florence Hatch.

The cake table was in charge of

SAXON SMARTNESS

This model embodies just a conservative measure of youthful jauntness. With its patch pockets—shorter coat—soft rolling lapels—natural shoulders—high cut arm-free vest—the Saxon fairly breathes smartness. There's poise and distinction too in the Saxon lines. And what may interest you more, the price is as low as is consistent with fine fabrics and finer tailoring. Come in and see the Saxon—today.

QUALITY IN THE MAKING

Two artists using the same paints and brushes achieve results that differ widely. One produces a masterpiece, the other an ordinary picture.

There are Pianos and Pianos

Given the same materials and one maker will turn out merely a commercial piano, the other an art product. The is sold solely upon its merits as an artistic instrument. In tone, action and design the unmistakable stamp of quality is apparent alike artist and amateur.

Those who have owned Chickering Pianos for years are the enthusiastic admirers. Is not this significant? Let us show you.
